Hanging out with Friends

You know what I love the most? It's hanging out with my friends. I have three friends that go to Leola, and their names are Gabe F, Gavin F, and Gabe B. We hang out at each others houses, and we play with my nerf guns. We also play this one Wii game called Golden Eye, it's a James Bond game which is really fun to play with them. What you do, is pick a character, the type of gun you want, and you shoot them. We also play WWE Allstars. We like that game a lot. In this game, you pick a character and fight the other player or players. You can win by pin fall or knock out.

We also shoot hoops at each others houses, because we all have basketball hoops. We play knock out, 2 on 2, horse, and we just shoot. During the winter last year a huge snowpile was formed at Gabe B's house and all of us would hang out at his house almost everyday. We would also throw snowballs at each other just for fun. We would have Josiah come over and he would bring his sleds over. We would slide down the hill while they threw snowballs at us going down. The hill was small but we had fun anyway. His sleds were somewhat long, but it was still fun to slide down the hill. He would bring two of them over so we would take turns.

After sledding a few days on the snowpile, and with the weather helping too, we decided to turn it into something like a fort. We made a tunnel in the fort so we can escape quickly. This way if our parents called us we could get home faster. It was really hard to do because the snow was so thick. I had to grab my metal shovels to dig through the fort and we had a lot of fun trying to dig. Everybody tried to make a spot for us too, but it didn't work because we took too much snow off of the fort. We also made a bridge to walk across and it worked. We even made a hole under the bridge so we can go through the bridge without going over it.

I would stay out until I got called in to eat. We played a game where we would hide with only one snowball. If you got hit you were out. Near the end of the winter the fort lost snow, so we called it a kingdom. We could walk around on it and we had fun. Lastly, we would lay down on the ground and let the snow fall on us. We had so much fun that we have even bigger plans for the winter this year.
